GREAT THRIFT STAMP DRIVE WILL START IN MONESSEN SATURDAY

The greatest Thrift Stamp Drive that has been instituted sincee the war began will be opened Saturday with a big parade, followed by a large mass meeting at Fifth street, where a suitable platform will be erected.

The president has set aside Friday, June 28 as National War Savings Day, and the people of every community in the United States are asked to make this date the occasion for subscribing for their full quota of War Saving Stamps. Each community will adapt itself to conditions in its vicinity, for an enthusiatstic on Thrift Stamps and Monessen being a mill town, where more people are at liberty on Saturday, that day has been chosen as the most practical.

After the parade, the mass meeting on Fifth street will be addressed by prominent men from out of town, and the list will embrace some of our leading, practical talkers. The chairmen of all patriotic organizations doing war work, who will participte in the parade, are requested to be present at the borough building at 7:30 this Wednesday evening. In fact everybody will be welcomed to this meeting.

TWO WERE KILLED IN AUTO WRECK

Washington, Pa., June 18.—Two women were killed, one instantly, and one man was seriously injured when their automobile was struck by the Washington-Pittsburgh express, at Arden crossing, two miles north of this place, at 12:30 o'clock today. The dead are: Mrs. Clarence Geary, aged 28, of Snograss; Mrs. Fred Housekeeper, aged 28, also of Snodgrass. The former was instantly killed and the latter died in the Canonsburg hospital. Owen Adams, aged 30, of Canonsburg hospital, where his condition is said to be serious.

While attempted to cross the tracks, the express, running at 50 miles an hour, struck the car as it was squarely across the tracks, instantly killing Mrs. Geary. The others were carried along the tracks for about 75 feet and tossed aside with the wreckage of the automobile.

Mrs. Geary leaves her husband, who is foreman of the Fort Pitt Bridge Works at Canonsburg, and three children. Mrs. Housekeeper is survived by her husband, who is connected with Houck's garage in Canonsburg and a son Byland.

INCORRECT INFORMATION CIRCULATED

Washington, D. C., June 19—The United States Civil Service Commission announces that through some misunderstanding an impression seems to prevail that the government has raised the usual entrance salary for stenographers and typists in the departments at Washington, D. C., to $1,400 a year. The Commission states that there has been no change in initial salaries for positions of this kind; the usual salaries at th beginning range from $1,000 to $1,200 a year, appointments at $1,200 being in the minority. The war department makes all appointments to such positions at not less than $1,100 a year, and agrees to promote to $1,200 a year after three months' satisfactory service. Appointments at salaries higher than $1,200 a year are rare, and the appointees must possess exceptional qualifications.

There is still great need for stenographers and typists in the government offices at Washington. Those who have had considerable office expreinec are most desired. The Civil Service Commission urges qualified persons to offer their services to the government. Full information may be obtained from the representative of the Civil Service Commission at the post office in any city.

"I earnestly hope that everyone who has bought Liberty Bonds will try to keep them for the period of the war at least. * * If each and every purchaser keeps his Liberty Bond, he helps to protect the credit of the government by maintaining the market for the bonds at par, which is a very helpful thing in wartime, and he also renders a more essential service to our soldiers and sailors in the field by practicing those economies and savings which release materials and labor necessary to the support, if not the very life, of our Army and Navy."—Secretary McAdoo.

How to Make Clothes Last

Everybody remembers that old joke about making one's trousers first in order to make the coat last.

Now a days every man is interested in making his whole suit last and the best way to do that is at first, when you buy it.

Buy good clothes, all wool clothes, carefully tailored clothes. They cost a little more but they last so much longer that they save for you in the long run.

Such clothes save wool for the fighters and labor for war work because you don't have to buy so many of them.

Our clothes are that kind. Come in.

TONS FROM OUNCES GROW

"I guess one slice of white bread won't be missed."

"Just give me a bit more butter to finish this piece of bread."

"I'm going to treat myself to that extra lump of sugar just this once."

Sounds familiar, doesn't it?

We have all used one or all of those phases since we signed the food pledge card and went on voluntary rations. And with every such lapse from a good resolution an ounce of fat, of wheat, or of sugar, is lost forever to our fighters. An ounce is such a little bit. In a family of four persons, if each saves the two ounces of fat each week as recommended by the food administration, the saving each seven days will amount to one-half pound. In a year that family will save 26 pounds of fat Twenty-six pounds of fat will ration one American boy at the front for six months.

Each person is asked to save one pound of flour a week. That is less than one loaf, or one slice of bread each meal. A family of four persons, each saving one pound of flour a week, can thereby assure an American soldier of one loaf of bread a day for six months.

If the family of four saves its 28 ounces of sugar each week—seven ounces to a person—they will accumulate 91 pounds of sugar in a year—a very generous supply for one soldier for more than six months. Multiply the ounces asked of each person as a week's saving by the number of members in the family—and see if that little thoughtlessness about individual ounces does not end. One army worm eating in a wheat field doesn't do much damage, but several million may destroy the crop and cause a great famine Not until every individual saves his ounces of flour, fat and sugar, will we be sure of enough tons of food to feed our men of battle.

JUST LIKE MOTHERS

In an eastern city they had just held a meeting at which efforts were made to find the "worst" boy in that city, that he might be "transplanted" and reformed. They selected what was called the "worst" boy and here ends that story.

On the next afternoon at a mothers' club meeting a speaker told about this worst boy hunt and in the discussion which followed, the talk veered around to good boys and the "best" boy. Finally the speaker asked each mother present to vote "yes" if she knew a boy she considered 90 per cent. good.

Twenty-one votes were cast and 19 voted "yes," one voted "no," and another was blank. Later questioning developed the information that two mothers had daughters only in their homes.

Now isn't that just like a mother of a boy to hold him at least 90 per cent. good? Sure it is! And we are certain that if the sons of those mothers could have voted, each and everyone would have insisted they had 100 per cent. perfect mothers. We wouldn't give two cents for a boy who didn't think that way.

THE GREATEST CAREER

Miss Vivienne Segal is a prominent actress and a beautiful young woman. It was reported that she would leave the stage via the matrimonial route. But now it seems that it is not to be. The young lady's mother says so, and this is why:

"Positively there is nothing to it. My daughter will not permit matrimony to interfere with her career."

Now, we have come to know many actresses and many mothers and some who were both actress and mother. We have seen theatrical careers come and go; we have observed them from the moment they began twinkling in minor speaking parts unto and past the days when they blazoned brightly in the stage firmament. We, too, have observed matrimonial careers, even from the day the bride baked her first batch of biscuits through all the cradle days of heartaches and heart joys And we are convinced that—

No stage career begins to compare with the matrimonial career which includes home, husband, happiness—and babies.

STRAW PROFITEERS

"Fact that million young men in United States will this summer wear soldiers' headgear rather than straw hats will not disturb straw hat industry," tariff commission says. * * * "Decrease in sales will be compensated by higher prices for women's hats of more expensive material and more intricate patterns." This from a Washington newspaper, that ought to know what it's talking about.

Oh, ye gods! After a whole year of the war this is the kind of economy that they are still discussing seriously down east! If a lot of those same young men get themselves gassed, and then buried over in Europe, will undertakers here begin putting out fancy coffins at fancy prices for the rest of us to make up the difference? It's a pretty rude joke, but at that is logic cut from the same piece of cloth as the announcement quoted above.

Why couldn't those millliners, male and female, who feel that they just must be up to something or other, war or no war, join either the army or the Red Cross nursing brigade? We ask for a rising vote on the question.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night, if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

Man Arrested for breaking up Home

Portland, Ore., June 17—With the arrest of Fred Day, former claim agent for the Southern Pacific here, another "eternal triangle" was brought to light last week in the office of District Attorney Evans in Portland, Oregon.

Day is acused of breaking up the home of H A Malline, a locomotive engineer in Tacoma, but Malline takes much of the blame for the loss of his young wife, Goldie, upon himself

"When we were married," said Malline, who is in Portland awating the return of Day, the prisoner, "I told my wife I would provide the money and she would run the house.

"Her father told me I was a fool, and I guess I was. She told me she was putting away a little money every month."

Malline old a heart rending story to the grand jury, the record of which was released by District Attorney Evans upon receiving word of Day's arrest. His statement follows, as it was taken in shorthand on April 23, after Mrs. Malline had abandoned her home and family:

"Last October, I noticed a coldness on the part of my wife She said nothing was the matter but on Hallowe'en she confessed. She told me who is was, where he lived and how much they had been together and asked forgiveness and another chance.

"I weighed the matter and thought of the children and promised to give her another chance on condition that she'd stop her foolishness She promised faithfully that she would. She said Day was a clean man and nothing was wrong.

"I told her to stay at home and live clean and stop writing to him, but once in a while a letter would come or I would find she had written him, a box of roses would come from him, a telegram, or he would come to see her, and each time I'd find she wasn't playing square.

"Finally the climax came when I returned from work after a week's absence and found the house deserted. That was March 16. There was a note on the table. It said life had become unbearable at home and she'd gone away for a short time for her health. She said for me not to worry and not be afraid as she wasn't running away and would write soon

"Two weeks later I got a letter from Tacoma. She said she had taken time to think it over and wasn't coming back and if I would get my freedom or allow her to get hers she would always thank me

"I replied that I would not consent to such an arrangement under the circumstances and that I didn't desire a separation if she would come home with the children and lived decently

"In her next letter she asked for money I thought that strange and came to Portland where I went to see her father. Mr Sones I found out she was living in an apartment at 16th and Yamhill, and persuaded Mr. Sones to accompany me there

"I asked the janitor if Mrs. Day was living there with two children, and described my wife to him. He said yes Then I went to the house telephone and called her room.

"Is this Mrs A. F Day," I asked

"Yes," she replied

"Well," I said, 'this is Mr H A Malline and I would like to talk to you"

"It was 10 or 15 minutes before I could get her on the phone again, and finally her father and I went up to see her.

"Reaching the door, I said to Mr. Sones, who was hanging back, 'Come in father, and we'll see your daughter'

"She struggled to shut the door, but we got in and they had quite a row Then Mr Sones left her and I tried to talk sense to her. I said 'Come home'

"She told me she had gone too far, but I urged her to come back with the children, and finally she said, 'I'll go but I won't stay'

"We went back to Tacoma and I told her, 'Now Goldie, it doesn't make any particular difference whether you go or stay, because I can't prevent your going, but as long as you are here let's be pleasant I can do you a whole lot of good, or I can do you a whole lot of harm. I think you'll be using good diplomacy if you keep on the good side of me'

"After that she never treated me decently It went on till Friday morning She got a long distance call from Day. That evening about 7 o'clock she began to prepare She dressed up and said she was going to the depot

"I had lived with this woman for 12 years and our home life was congenial till this man came into it, and I broke down when the woman left. It seemed heartless to leave the two children and I cried. She didn't pay any attention to my tears I must have fainted then, for the next thing I knew Mrs Malline was putting water on my face.

"She helped me into another room where I lay down and got a grip on myself. The children heard the rumpus and began to cry

"Mama, come back to us Mama, don't leave us'

"She did come back, three times, and remained all night, but next morning she left She kissed the children without a tear I put her on the car with her grips and went with her to the depot She started for the train and I, but I held her back

"Goldie," I said, 'you haven't very much money Let me pay for the ticket I can't prevent you from going, but I'd like to give you some kind of a start, so you can get a little of life on some kind of shape, so I bought the ticket and put her in the chair car, and tipped the porter to bring him to see that she got anything she wanted

"Then I kissed her and said, Well good by now, little woman. You're doing a pretty serious thing. Don't let any man harness in this game with you, don't know much. Go be good and get a job of some kind or make love. If you can't make good, I'll make up the deficit as long as I have cash. And if your heart ever turns back

I left her then and went out of the depot and home. A day or two later I got a long distance call from Portland just as I was pulling out with a car of soldiers I hurried to the phone

A woman's voice said 'What are you doing, trying to get rid of your wife I asked, 'Who are you Then she said 'When can you come to Portland.' I replied, anytime it's necessary. Right away.' She told me to come right away, said she had seen me once at my father in law's funeral and would meet me at the train. She'd be wearing a black hat and green dress.

"When I got to Portland, she was there on the depot platform, and I recognized Mrs Day, Day's wife."

Deputy Sheriff Roy Kendall was assigned to go to San Francisco after Day It is presumed by District Attorney that Mrs. Malline is with Day in California.

A Second Appeal

TWO weeks ago the Telephone Company requested all telephone users to please refrain from asking the operators for the correct time, explaining that this request was necessary because of the considerable volume of such calls which, if eliminated, would so reduce the abnormal calling volumes as to permit of a redistribution of both operators' service and telephone equipment, and result in the Company's ability to care for the very heavy telephone demands of the present and the even greater demands for service which are expected in the months to come.

It was explained that the same service on the part of the operators, the same length of time, and an equal general use of telephone equipment are necessary to answer such questions as are required to complete an ordinary connection.

While the response to this request has been very gratifying and the volume of such calls has decreased appreciably, the burden has not been entirely lifted.

We, therefore, again bring the matter to the attention of those users of the service who did not read, or who were not impressed by our earlier appeal, urging them to discontinue the practice of depending upon the telephone operator for the correct time.

The Telephone Company feels that it can count on a continuation of the public's helpful attitude which will be of very real assistance in meeting the ever-increasing volumes of telephone calls and demands for telephone service.

History of Pan Motor Co.

The following is a report of a trip made by Henry Fusarini, of the Reamer law office, to St. Cloud, Minn., for the purpose of investigating conditions of the Pan Motor Co., in the interest of Monessen people. Mr. Fusarini returned home Monday and his report follows:

The Pan Motor company, established in St. Cloud, Minnesota, and incorporated under the law of the state of Delaware in January, 1917, with a capital of $5,000,000.00. The factory is situated on the right side of the Mississippi river on fifty acres of ground, all level and about one half mile from the city of St. Cloud., The factory is divided in three sections, one of which is all completed in steel material, and used for the construction of automobiles. Said section is 160 feet by 780 feet, very near the track of the North Western railroad company and constructed according to the new law with lavatories for the workmen, varnishing shop and construction department.

There are employed some 300 workmen, some of whom for the reason that they are not yet trained for the work receive thirty cents per hour, while the trained ones make 50 cents and more per hour. In said factory the average number of cars per day is fourteen, but the number increases gradually according to the request of buyers.

The automobies are of very good constructon and the new model 1919 is very important especially for being considered as a sleeping motor in the night time for the reason that the seats inside can be changed in the same manner as those of the Pullman company.

The most important section is the drop forge, not yet completed.

It is one of the greatest in the state and has 17 hammers of ½ ton to 4 tons each. This drop forge will be completed during the month of August and will employ about four hundred more men, it is believed it will be taken possession of by the government for the construction of war material.

The third section is the power house that cannot be completed before some other very important work the company has on hand, as this is not important now as at the present time it is using the water supply of another company.

The factory in a very short time will be completed and will be the most important factory of the state of Minnesota because the company has decided to start commercial business with South America, using the Mississippi river for transportation.

The company has three important offices in St. Cloud. One is located in the First National Bank building, where there are employed about 25 girls and about fifty men clerks and is the main office of the president and post office called the Pan Motor Co. post office, with three employes. The company has paid the amount of nine hundred thousand dollars for land and mochinery, hence everyhing is paid for.

On the right side of the main road where the factory gate is, there are fifty houses built all in one row of Switzerland style, very beautiful, and furnished inside with everything that is needed in a house.

The said houses are used for the employes and the most important and the most beautiful is the property of the president of the company. Mr. Pandolfo who has the respect of everyone for his intelligence, honesty and of being the one who has given the most important development to this company. Mr. Pandolfo is considered as the father and friend of every employe and workman and is considered in all the state as the one who will give St. Cloud a future importance. Another office is occupied by the construction engineers corps. and the last one is for exhibition purposes where any one may go and examine the new model of 1919. The secretary of the company is Mr. Barritt who has in his hands the direct survey of all the commercial business.

The Motor company based on the prospect of a deal with South America has opened a special Italian branch, whose manager is Mr. C. T. Lazzari, a very intelligent and educated gentleman who is very interested in everything concerning the company, and is very proud to show and explain to everyone the development and progress made by the Pan Motor company of St. Cloud, which in a very short time will be in the list of many other important companies who rule the steel and motor business in the United States of America.

Henry Fusarini, Civil Engineer.

Third World Conference

Much interest is being manifested by the local pastors and by other church workers in the remarkable people who are coming to Pittsburgh to take part in the preliminary assembly of the Third World's Christian Citizenship conference, which is to be held in the First United Presbyterian church, North side, Union avenue near Ohio street, from Sabbath, June 23 to Thursday, June 27.

Special invitations have been received by the pastors and other leaders among the reform forces to take part in the discussion of the reports been investigating present world conditions with reference to public education, intemperance, militarism, social purity, the Sabbath, family life, mixed races and capital and labor. The assembly has been called for the purpose of seeking to formulate plans for a reconstruction of the world upon Christian principles after the war.

The Countess Turczynowics, who speaks on Monday night, has had a remarkable experience. Her castle was captured by the Hun army and made the headquarters of General Von Hindenburg. The Countess was obliged to become a servant, had harrowing experiences, witnessed numerous atrocities and finally escaped to her former home in New York City. Her address will describe "Prussian Arocities in Poland."

A temperance rally will take place Tuesday evening. On Wednesday evening, "How France Saved Civilization" is the stirring subject of Professor Charles Bisler, of Paris, formerly general secretary of the Sabbath schools of France, representative of the Protestant churches of France. The Assembly will close Thursday evening with an address by the famous lecturer, author and traveler, the Honorable Frank J Cannon, formerly United States Senator from Utah, who has returned from a tour of Europe with a stirring patriotic message which has been heard by thousands of delighted auditors in the past few weeks.

Hohenzollern Family Secrets Revealed for the First Time

(By MISS LEDA NEVING.)

A Swiss Girl Who Was Dressing Maid to Princess Auguste Wilhelm.

Then the Kaiser lost his temper and ordered the Princess Luise to leave the table. The princess said, "Nonsense, father, I have said nothing that you have any right to object to. I shall not leave the table."

"Leave the table at once," Luise." Shouted her father. The instinct of obedience to parental authority was too deeply rooted in the Princess Luise for her to refuse to obey—but she determined "to get her own back," before she left the room. As she rose from the table she turned to the Kaiser and said "All right father, I must obey you but may I kiss you good night before I go."

"Leave the room at once," said the Kaiser, and the Princess then departed without kissing her father.

Frau Hollweg was once staying with the Baron and Baroness Guymann in East Prussia when the Kaiser and Kaiserin were also traveling in East Prussia. They wired to the Guymann's, with whom they had once stayed on a visit before, to say that they would spend a couple of days with them, and would arrive about seven o'clock in the evening.

Baron Guymann got the telegram at eleven o'clock in the morning, and it was impossible for him to have suitable preparations made for the Emperor and Empress by the evening. He knew that the Emperor and Empress would arrive with a large retinue of household officials and that every available room in the Schloss would have to be got ready for them. The Baron and his wife at the time were living quietly by themselves, and only had a few servants and most of the rooms of the Schloss were closed.

The Baron was highly indignant at the Kaiser's telegram.

"Hang him," he said to his wife. "Does the Kaiser think that I can afford to keep this Schloss open and in readiness for him. His last visit cost me over $5.000. The Baron was by no means well off, though he had one of the most beautiful old places in East Prussia.

'Something must be done," said the Baron whilst he walked up and down the room, holding the Kaiser's telegram in his hand. "Something must be done," he repeated, "to keep the kaiser from coming here. We can not posibly have him here."

At last his wife suggested a plan that the Baron promptly adopted. The Baroness suggested that they should send a wire to the Kaiser to say that one of the Baron's servants was down with scarlet fever, and that it might be dangerous for the Emperor and empress to come to the Schloss. As everybody knows, the Emperor has a horror of coming into contact with any infectious illness, and this message was entirely successful in keeping the Imperial party away from the Baron's Schloss.

"The only thing was that somehow or other the truth of the story got to the Kaiser's ears later, and it got the Baron and his wife into bad odor at the Court and deprived them of the Emperor's friendship, but I don't suppose that that troubled the Baron very much," said Frau Hollweg."

One morning while I was at work altering one of the Princess' evening frocks, Frau Hollweg came into my room, and said. "We are to have an interesting visitor at lunch today, the Countess Leffner."

"Oh, I have seen her." I replied and told the Baroness my meetings with this interesting lady.

"Yes," said Frau Hollweg, "the Countess is quite a remarkable lady, and is staying in Berlin now, and I daresay you will see her here pretty often for a while. She is a great friend of the Princess."

I saw much of the Countess Leffner after she took up residence in Berlin and what I now relate of her and the other lady spies in the German secret service was told to me either by the Countess herself, with whom I often had conversations, or what I heard from the Princess and Frau Hollweg.

The Countess was the widow of a diplomatist, who had been in the German diplomatic service. She was the daughter of Baron Senberg, an old friend of the Kaiser. Baron Senberg, though never officially employed in the German Secret Service, like several other friends of the Kaiser, did (in his later years) did a great deal of spy work in an amateurish way in Britain and Russia for his Imperial friend. His daughter became interested in the work, and was a considerable help to her father.

She was a pretty, attractive girl, and she often was able in conversation with the men she met who came to her father's house to get information from them that proved quite useful to her father. But it was when she married Count Leffner and went with him to Vienna, where he was appointed Secretary to the German Embassy in Austria that she had her opportunities of proving her capabilities as a spy.

When the Leffners were in Vienna the late Count Aerenthal held the position of Minister of Foreign affairs to the Austrian Emperor, a position that corresponds to the German Chancellor in Germany and to the Prime Minister in Britain. It is the chief post in the state.

Now, at that time the German General Staff had practically taken control of the Austrian army. There were matters in the reorganization of the Austrian army that the Kaiser and the German General Staff were anxious to carry out, but the Kaiser knew these arrangements would not be carried out if Count Aerenthal was opposed to them.

What the Kaiser wished to find and which he failed to find out thru the ordinary diplomatic channels, was whether Count Aerenthal would oppose them or not. Count Aerenthal, for political reasons, would not make any definite pronouncement in the matter. The one person, however, who did know what the Count's intentions were was the Countess Wethenau, a lady of the Austrian court, with whom the Count Aerenthal was deeply in love, and who had the greatest influence over him.

The Countess Leffner knew the Countess Wethenau; she went one afternoon to call on her when she knew the Countess Wethnau would be out. The Countess Leffner declared that she was anxious to see the countess and announced her intention of waiting for her to return.

The Countess was shown into the Wethenau's boudoir, where was the writing desk in which the Countess Wethenau kept her private letters. The Countess Leffner, directly after she was left alone in the room, opened the desk with a skeleton key she had brought with her for the purpose and ten minutes later had obtained the information that the Kaiser was so anxious to obtain.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Boy Scouts Annual Gathering

The second annual camp of the Westmoreland county council, Boy Scouts of America, will be held at Kissell's Springs, five miles north of Ligonier from July 29 until August 31. More than 500 Scouts from all parts of the county are expected to attend. The cost of the camp will be $5.25 per week for each Scout.

The camp will be located on Kissel's esate, five miles north of Ligonier As a place for every phase of scouting, there is none better in the county. The mountains and valleys contain evrything that scout life craves. There is an opportunity to get into almost unexplored timber country where logging operations are in progress at present.

Wild life in this region makes it possible for every scout to acquaint himself with the habits of the small animals and as for birds, there is no better place to study them.

The swimming pool, the real thought of the boy in camp, has been dredged to give a good depth for diving and swimming.

Unseated Lands are To be Sold

County commissioners have a big force of clerks engaged in sorting out and classifying some ten thousand deeds for properties that have become the property of the county on account of non-payment of taxes. The county commissioners are preparing their lists of bargains in real estate for a big sale, or rather a series of sales to be held sometime about the latter part of July.

Clerks are classifying and compiling deeds that run back to 1880, 38 years old. Little attention will be given to title to property antedating 1880. Commissioners secure title to all property sold by the county treasurer for taxes wherein no bids are offered at the treasurer's sale. They are kept two years for redemption, during which time owners can, and some do, come in and pay the back taxes, the costs, interest and the penalty and get their property.

It has been decided by the county authorities this year, because of war conditions and the busy state of affairs to dispose of all properties in a given locality at a central point in that terrritory on a certain day

For instance West Newton is about the geographical center of Rostraver South Huntingdon and Sewickley township's and the boroughs within it and it will be the place selected to sell the properties in that part of the county.

New Kensington will be another center and Ligonier another, as well as Greensburg which naturally will be the main center.

West Newton Defeated by Local Boys

"The P. S. P. Co. baseball team defeated the West Newton team at West Newton on Saturday afternoon by the score of 18 to 4. Kuhn was on the mound for the Products and had the opposing team at his mercy at all times, allowing only four hits; three of West Newton's runs being due to errors. Costello had a large day at bat, collecting five hits, one being for two bases. Ryan, King, Coneghan and Watkins also starred with the stick for the Products, each getting three hits. The Products play the Pittsburgh Steel office team a twilight game Tuesday night at Page park, at 6 p. m.' They are open to meet any team in the valley.

Anaemia and Poor Blood

How Mrs. Burnell's Daughter Recovered

Drewsville, N. H.—"My daughter was anaemic, had poor blood and suffered from indigestion and bilious attacks. As Vinol had built up my son some time ago, I gave it to my daughter—she soon improved in health, and it has built her up and restored her health."—Mrs. N. Burnell.

The reason Vinol was so successful in Miss Burnell's case is because it contains beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptonates and lycerophosphates, the very elements needed to build up a weakened, run-down system, make rich, red blood and creat strength.——Craig's drug store, Hirsch Drug company and druggists everywhere. 1t

Jealousy Caused Murder

Mrs. Annie Simons, aged 35, of Clairton, was shot, perhaps fatally, yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock Officers are searching for Joe Petrick, a former boarder at Mrs. Simons' home, who is alleged to have shot her. Petrick went to the Simons' home about 15 minutes prior to the shooting and almost immediately an argument, said to have been due to jealousy, started. Petrick is said to have fired twice at Mrs. Simons. Ons bullet penetrated her right lung and the other lodged about an inch below the right lung. Joseph Simons, husband of the woman, was in the rear yard of the home and ran into the house just as Petrick disappeared through a front door. Mrs. Simons was removed to the McKeesport hospital.

Fruit Crops Low

Connellsville, Pa., June 18.—Apples are falling off the trees say the farmers. Peaches and plums are scarce. There will be a few pairs, but no cherries of consquence. The strawberry season is now at an end. There will be few if any raspberries.

Wheat, oats and rye are maturing nicely and the indications are that the corn crop will be the largest in recent years. War gardens are doing nicely.

Liking for Ford Cars

"A Ford standing on Derry street with its driver absent is not safe," decreed Squire Robert M. Doty of Derry, yesterday in District Attorney N. A. Cort's office in Greensbur. Squire Doty and his constable, O. W. Shankel had just brought in Clarence Craver and George Clawson, two 16 year old lads, who had a mania for driving "borrowed" Fords.

A few days ago this pair hopped into a "Tin Liz" standing on the street and went to Pittsburg where they plunged into a telegraph pole and it cost their parents $100 on repairs, Squire Doty announced. The boys admitted they liked Fords.

These lads will be sent to a corrective institution for instruction.

Capt. W. D. Hunter, stationed with the U. S. Army at Camp Lee, is home on a brief furlough, prior to leaving for service in France. Upon his untimely arrival the captain found that his family was visiting with home people near Latrobe and he was not long locating them. He will visit in Monessen before returning to camp.
